

Immunization Status and Factors Effecting Among Children Aged Between 12–23 Month in Hodan District, Mogadishu

Background

Immunization is a success story for global health and development, saving millions of lives every year. Between 2010 and 2018, 23 million deaths were averted with measles vaccine alone, the number of infants vaccinated annually – more than 116 million, or 86% of all infants born – has reached the highest level ever reported (IMMUNIZATION AGENDA 2030, n.d.).

Objectives

1. To assess immunization status among 12–23-month children in Hodan District Mogadishu.
2. To determine factors effecting immunization status among 12–23-month children in Hodan District Mogadishu.

Results

The social demographic status most of respondent Married out of total of 384 respondent counts 237(61.7%), most of respondent around two third were replied Illiterate 305(78.8%), majority of respondents have not given their childhood the vaccination he/ she reached that out of the total 384 respondents parent who had among 12-23 month replied No 209(54. 43%), out of the respondents 276(71.9%) said that vaccinator is always available in the EIP room, majority of the respondents 204(53.1%) stated that their village's nearby health center has vaccines available

Conclusion

The study addresses Immunization status and factors effecting among children aged between 12–23 month in hodan district mogadishu somalia and most of the respondents stated vaccination is available at nearby health centers.

Prepared By:

Mariama Warsame Abdi

Samiira Mohamud Omer.

Aisha Ahmed Abdullahi.

Naima Osman Warsame